May 2020

Parents, thank you very much for your continuing commitment to Kumon and to your children's education.

Kumon is a home-based, pencil and paper programme students can study, at home, every day on their own. Our worksheets are ideal for extended periods at home, making it possible for children to continue to make progress towards their learning goals.

As Kym, a Kumon dad, says, "There's a lot of unknowns going on at the moment, but there's certainty and consistency with Kumon."

Along with the worksheets you have been provided, I am committed to keeping you informed of your child's individualised study projection, and to provide regular communication, either via phone, email, SMS or video messaging.

If you feel if there is any way I can improve your children's home-based study, please do not hesitate to be in touch with me. Please stay safe and well.

Reassurance that learning will continue at home

With children now learning at home, Kym, a Kumon dad, is confident that his boys' learning will continue to go smoothly with Kumon's support.

Kym – whose sons Levi, aged 8, and Jett, aged 6, study Kumon Maths and English – says continuing to study Kumon at home provides him with reassurance that both of his boys will continue to learn.

"The structure and support provided by Kumon's home-based programme to drive our children's education is invaluable", Kym says.

"There's a lot of unknowns going on at the moment, but there's certainty and consistency with Kumon."

Kumon is a partnership between student, parent and Instructor, which continues during extended periods at home. The Instructor creates an individualised study plan for each student, and sends home the worksheets they are ready to learn next on their own.

Students study their worksheets, daily. Parents encourage their children to complete their worksheets to the best of their ability. Parents then mark and grade the completed worksheets.

Kumon Maths develops calculation ability. Kumon English builds reading comprehension. Both are pencil-and-paper based programmes where students take out their worksheets, pick up a pencil, read, think, write, and use an eraser to correct their errors.
